Course Overview

This course introduces students to the study of linguistics, and investigates why it would be relevant to the teaching of English as a second language. Students will be introduced to the fundamentals of the sound system in English (phonetics and phonology), the way that meaningful units in the language combine to form words (morphology), the sentence system (syntax), the elements of grammar that are relevant in the ESL classroom (pedagogical grammar), the role of language in society (sociolinguistics), and the use of language in communicative situations (discourse analysis). Prospective teachers will be made aware of the pedagogical implications of the structural and social aspects of language.

Instructor

Hi, I'm Stephen Whelan and I am your instructor for the EDUC 4683: Linguistics for Teachers course. Please note, first of all, that there will not be any changes to the course itself at this time.

Here's a little information about me: After completing a Bachelor of Arts, I began teaching in Korea, a long time ago. I went on to teach in Colombia, Kuwait, Poland and Qatar for about 15 years. During that time, I was able to do a Bachelor of Education and a Master of Applied Linguistics. After returning to Canada, I completed the CELTA and gained a Standard Three Permanent certificate from TESL Canada. I taught Composition for International Students at Acadia and I have been teaching at isans for the past four years.

I am very happy to be your instructor for this course. I would like to thank Susanne for all her help. Please note that since I am working from home, I would appreciate being contacted by email. I will get back to you as soon as I can. I hope you enjoy the course!

Stephen

Course Schedule

Click to download the suggested schedule for this course: EDUC 4683 COIN2 - Suggested Schedule

Print out this schedule and fill in your start date to use the recommended timeline to plan out when you will do readings and assignments. This is a tool to help you plan and time manage this course. If you get off-track, make sure to revisit your schedule and re-evaluate the dates you've set for yourself.

You have 6 months to complete this course. You may set your own schedule, but if you intend to complete the course in less than 3 months, you should let me know so that we can arrange a schedule.

Please do not leave all of your course work until a few weeks before your completion date. Although I will make every effort to accommodate your schedule within reason, I need time to grade assignments and mark exams.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity demands responsible use of the work of other scholars. It is compromised by academic dishonesty such as cheating and plagiarism. A student who is uncertain whether or not a course of action might constitute cheating or plagiarism should seek in advance the advice of the instructor involved.

- Cheating is copying or the use of unauthorized aids or the intentional falsification or invention of information in any academic exercise
- Plagiarism is the act of presenting the ideas or words of another as one's own. Students are required to acknowledge and document the sources of ideas that they use in their written work.
- Self-plagiarism is also a form of plagiarism. It is the presentation of the same work in more than one course without the permission of the instructors involved.
- A student who knowingly helps another to commit an act of academic dishonesty is equally guilty.
- Penalties are levied in relation to the degree of the relevant infraction. They range from requiring the student to re-do the piece of work, through failure on that piece of work, to failure in the course, and to dismissal from the university.
